

Prepare to be hypnotized!

“Mind Games”

is this years subject! All times subject to change without prior notice. Some restrictions apply. Watch out for Kodos - he will eat your food! Put your jacket and shoes in the closet!

Enjoy!

8:30 Galaxy Rangers: “Psychocrypt” Zach tries to find out why he is having nightmares involving Eliza and the Queen of the Crown.

8:50 Rocket Robin Hood: “The Warlord of Saturn” Ming, the Warlord of Saturn, hypnotizes Little John and uses the enthralled Merry Man in an attempt to conquer Sherwood Asteroid.

9:10 Spider-Man “The Madness of Mysterio”: Spiderman tussles once more with master-of-illusion Mysterio. This time, Mysterio causes Spidey to think that he has shrunk the web-slinger and placed him in a miniature amusement park. PS: Bruce “Evil Dead” Campbell, who has had a cameo in the first two Spider-Man films directed by Sam “Evil Dead” Raimi, is rumoured to have a cameo in Spidey 3 as Mysterio’s alter ego Quentin Beck, and will appear as Mysterio in S4.

9:20 Jonny Quest “The Dreadful Doll” Dr. Quest is called in to stop a voodoo priest from causing the residents of the island from becoming catatonic zombies. More is going on then meets the eye when Jonny and Hadji see strange things when they are scuba diving.

9:40 Dungeons & Dragons “Quest of the Skeleton Warrior” A servant of Venger tricks the children into retrieving the Circle of Power from the Lost Tower of the Celestial Knights, a magical place where their greatest fears become realized. Uni, Tiamat and Skeleton Warrior voiced by Frank “Freddy from Scooby Doo” Welker.

10:05 Gummi Bears: “If I Were You” Duke Igthorn and Tummi Gummi switch bodies. Tummi voiced by Lorenzo “Garfield/Carlton Your Doorman” Music. Gummi Bears was Disney’s second foray into Saturday morning cartoons, in-between the Wuzzles and Ducktales.

10:15 Star Trek The Animated Series: “Mudd’s Passion.” Harry Mudd returns, this time swindling miners with a love potion. This episode was the first of three sequels to the classic Trek episodes “Mudd’s Women” and “I, Mudd”. Along with Mark Lenard (Sarek) and Stanley Adams (Cyrano Jones), Roger C. Carmel (Harry Mudd) is one of only three actors, besides the regulars, to play the same character on both this series and Star Trek: The Original Series. While this is Harry Mudd’s final canonical appearance, he would be featured in various Star Trek video games afterwards. Mudd was also considered for appearances in Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home (appearing as a character witness at the trial of James Kirk, echoing Kirk’s promise to appear as one for Harry’s trial in “Mudd’s Women”)

10:35 Real Ghostbusters: “Slimer? Is that You?” Egon is set to have a battle of wits against a powerful demon, but unfortunately he and Slimer accidentally exchange minds. Master of Shadows voiced by William Marshall who played King of Cartoons in Pee-wee’s Playhouse and Dr Daystrom in the classic Star Trek episode “The Ultimate Computer.” Slimer and Ray are both voiced by Frank Welker. Lorenzo Music as Venkman.

11:00 Ren & Stimpy: “Stimpy’s Invention” Beavering away feverishly in his home laboratory, pausing only to refresh himself with a goggle full of sweat, Stimpy invents an array of stupid appliances for Ren, whose patience is pushed beyond the limit.

Freakazoid: “The Lobe” The Lobe: The Lobe and a hypnotized Steph prepare to lobotomize Freakazoid, but will Steph break free in time to save him? (bonus: “Toby Danger” with special guest Don “Dr Benton Quest” Messick). Freakazoid’s cat voiced by Frank Welker.

11:20 Justice League Unlimited “The Great Brain Robbery”

Magic and science collide, placing Lex Luthor and Flash’s minds in each other’s body. The Justice League must now contain super-speed powered Luthor on the Watchtower while Flash tries to hide the reversal from the Legion. Luthor played by Clancy “Highlander” Brown. Michael Rosenbaum who voices Flash in the JLU series, plays Lex Luthor in Smallville so he is effectively playing the same character in two shows for this episode.

11:40 Superfriends: "The Voodoo Vampire" A voodoo practicing vampire from Africa named Vampirus attacks the SuperFriends. She takes control of Batman, Robin, Superman, and Aquaman and must be foiled by the efforts of Wonder Woman and Black Vulcan.

11:50 Powerpuff Girls "Crisis Cross Crisis": While working on a machine to turn apples into oranges, the Professor somehow manages to switch the exomolecular constituents of all the citizens of Townsville so that everyone ends up exchanging bodies with someone or something else while keeping their original personality and voice.

Noon: Looney Tunes "The Hare-Brained Hypnotist" Elmer tries stalking Bugs with hypnotism, but it only confuses the hunter-prey relationship, and sets off a pattern of role reversal that will hound the hunter for years.

12:10 Batman the Animated Series: "Over the Edge" During a battle with The Scarecrow, Batgirl, AKA Barbara Gordon, is killed. Commissioner Gordon blames Batman for his daughter's death and sets in motion a deadly manhunt for the caped crusader and his cronies. Quite possibly the best of the Batman animated episodes. Written by Paul "Lost" Dini.

The Ripping Friends: "Rip's Shorts" John "Ren & Stimpy" Kricfalusi's short-lived superhero series of manly men. Rip accidentally throws his shorts into outer space where they become bathed in mysterious rays. Now evil, they have the power to make a mindless thrall of whoever wears them!

"The Tick vs Science" The Tick and Arthur are invited to the Mad Scientist Fair to help Dr. Vahtoss try out his mind-transference device. Hilarity ensues when the two switch bodies. Chairface Chippendale moves in to try and steal the device and soon everyone is switching with everyone. Keep an ear out for one of cartoondom's best quotes: "Poor Tongue-Tongue, he has but one small tongue with which to taste an entire world."

1:15 Venture Brothers: "Eeny, Meeny, Miney... Magic" Dr. Venture's new experiment has the entire family interested--not to mention trapped inside! The Ventures' stange new neighbor, master of mysticism Dr. Orpheus, may be the only one who can help them escape. I hope you caught the episode of Jonny Quest, because this entire series is a parody of JQ!

1:35 Futurama: "The Day the Earth Stood Stupid" The Earth is conquered by flying brains with the power to turn normal human beings into idiots. Leela learns that humanity's only hope is Fry -- the only being immune to the brains' moron-making power. Maurice Lamarche, who voices Egon in the Real Ghostbusters, does the voice for Kif Kroker, Morbo, Calculon, and Lrrr from the planet Omicron Persei VIII. Nibbler voiced by Frank Welker!

2:00 "The Amazing Screw-On Head" is adapted from the comic by Mike "Hellboy" Mignola. Stars Paul "American Splendor" Giamatti as Screw, a bodiless spy employed by Abraham Lincoln. When arch-fiend Emperor Zombie, (David Hyde Pierce of Frasier fame), steals an artifact capable of unleashing unspeakable evil, the task of stopping him is assigned to Screw-on Head. Not to be missed!

2:30 Korgoth of Barbaria. In a dark future wasteland, the great cities have risen and fallen, primordial beasts have reclaimed the wilderness and thieves and savages populate sparse, dirty towns. From the frozen north emerges a warrior known as Korgoth, and his merciless savagery may be his only key to survival. This is a pilot created by Aaron "Spongebob" Springer which according to the interweb was picked up by Cartoon Network. A SMCP premiere!

Big Guy & Rusty the Boy Robot: "Bicameral Mind" Rusty and the Legion Ex Machina's #4 engage in a mental tug of war which results in the two switching personalities. Rusty starts building a doomsday machine while #4 plays video games. Voices by M. Emmet "Raising Arizona" Walsh, R. Lee "Full Metal Jacket", and "Clancy "Shawshank Redemption" Brown.

Sealab 2021: "Brainswitch" An accident leaves Quinn comatose and Stormy allegedly smarter. Have they really switched brains? Eric "C.H.I.P.s" Estrada as Degas.

Samurai Jack "Jack and the Rave" Jack battles a Pied Piper-like DJ who lures children from a village. Samurai Jack is voiced by Phil Lammarr, who also voices Green Lantern in Justice League, Hermes Conrad in Futurama and Black Vulcan in Harvey Birdman: Attorney At Law. And he got shot in the head in Pulp Fiction.
